

ZOOM ON VERIFICATION OF CONFORMITY

Shaping a World of Trust

In today's context, Governments attach great importance to promoting international trade, but also pay close attention to the health and safety of consumers and the protection of the environment. They therefore place high demands on the necessary conformity documents and certificates for goods being imported into their countries.

VERIFICATION OF CONFORMITY

Conformity Based Assessment programs, or Verification of Conformity programs contribute to the implementation of regulations protecting consumer health and safety and the environment. Consignments of goods are checked regarding their conformity to applicable standards and technical regulations as per the requirements of the country of destination..

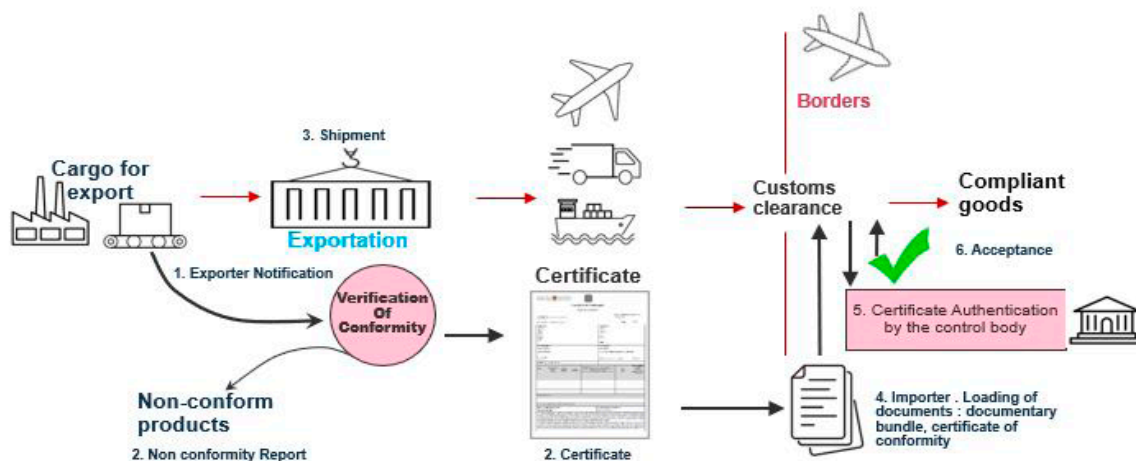

Bureau Veritas, is a leader of import control and inspection services, globally accredited to ISO/IEC 17020. We perform conformity assessment worldwide, reducing risks in international trade operations and increasing confidence of trading actors and authorities.

SCHEME

Our teams, with a worldwide coverage, assess the conformity of a wide range of products as per applicable standards:

- verifying technical and quality documentation
- testing with ISO/IEC 17025 accredited laboratories
- performing onsite or remote inspections of goods.

Once conformity is established, a Certificate of Conformity or Certificate of Inspection is issued allowing fast clearance at destination.

VERIGATES : a website for our clients
